

What Is Comfort?

A TAXICAB is more your idea of comfort than a street car. But you get more comfort from riding to business in the street car, because it is the practical means from the viewpoint of your income. So, there are places in which you can have over-luxurious dining service. But it is the practical appeal of WALLIS' that will comfort you at mealtime here.

A. F. OF L. ATTACKS HARDING POLICIES

Industrial Feudalism and Political Bureaucracy Charged in Report.

By the Associated Press.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, June 26.—Industrial feudalism, supported by political bureaucracy, seems to have made its way into the White House, declared the report of the special policy committee of the American Federation of Labor in setting forth organized labor's stand against the Kansas Industrial court, and other proposals for compulsory submission of labor disputes to state tribunals. President Harding's declaration to Congress last December, suggesting regulation of labor unions, prompted the committee's criticism. "It would seem," declared the committee, "that propaganda for industrial feudalism, supported by political bureaucracy, has found its way into the White House. It is most regrettable to note the utterances of the President of the United States, wherein he disapproves of labor's resistance but necessary resort to the right to strike against industrial oppression. It may be well to recall in this connection a most appropriate utterance upon the same subject by another President, Abraham Lincoln, who said: 'I am glad that a system of labor precedents under which laborers can strike when they want to'."

Politics, international relations and a shorter work day were among the subjects touched by the report presented to the council in addition to that of the special policy committee. Rate Many Objections.

The special committee considered the Kansas industrial court law, the Colorado industrial commission law, compulsory incorporation of trade unions, President Harding's suggestion of regulation and the attempt to pass the Duell-Miller bill in New York. "Interference throughout all of these legislative enactments and legislative proposals," said the report, "is the insidious attempt to extend the doctrine of conspiracy to the whole trade union movement, and thus to prevent the constructive, effective and efficient organization of the principle of unionism and co-operation by the wage-earners. Whatever else may be said of the Kansas law, the facts remain that the whole of industry cannot be moved by anti-strike legislation any more effectively than it can be by injunction."

The committee declared in favor of the federation's continuance of its fight against the Kansas and Colorado laws. Congress was subjected to criticism by a supplemental report of the legislative committee, which declared that its attitude against labor had "frequently been evidenced on remedial labor legislation."

Plan Fight on Congress. "Rather than spend our efforts trying to change the attitude of the present Congress," said the report, "we should endeavor to change its personnel. Now is the opportune time to do so. There are at least fifty congressional districts now represented by men who are not in accord with our legislative program and who are generally hostile to our objectives, from which trade unionists might be elected. What we need is a realization on the part of the organized wage-earners that seats in Congress do not belong by divine right to lawyers and capitalists."

The legislative committee also attacked the United States bureau of efficiency, declaring that "since its inception it has not made a single worth-while contribution to public service."

The committee recommended that the executive council, in co-operation with the unions of government employees, "endeavor to bring about a more satisfactory administration of the bureau, and if it develops this course is impractical, then appropriate action be taken to abolish the bureau."

The shorter work day committee also filed a supplemental report with the council, describing the union coal miners, the printers and the textile workers as "the shock troops" of organized labor in fighting for a shorter work day.

"Their success," said the committee, "will bring a definite and effective solution of the problems of unemployment."

Seek Shorter Day. Among the demands of the soft coal miners now on strike is establishment of the six-hour day, five-day week, while the International Typographical Union was said by the committee to have spent $3,000,000 in the last fourteen months trying to establish the forty-four-hour week, and it was noted that the New England textile workers are on strike to prevent the lengthening of the work day.

Resolutions favoring recognition by the United States of the Mexican government, headed by President Alvaro Obregón, expressing the federation's "sympathy for the just struggles and aspirations of the people of India" were reported as concurred in by the committee on international relations. The committee took similar action on a resolution providing that the American Federation should "urgently call the attention of the labor movements of all the Latin American republics to the necessity of using their influence to prevail upon their respective governments, when negotiating with foreign banking institutions, that the further welfare of their peoples, as it may be affected by such negotiations, be the first consideration before agreeing to the terms and conditions imposed upon them by the bankers."

RUM-RUNNERS BATTLE TERRIFIC WINDSTORM

Thirteen Caught in Three Boats and 20,000 Bottles of Whisky Confiscated.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 26.—Twenty thousand bottles of whisky were seized by customs officers, who captured three speeding motor boats which attempted to run their rum cargoes up the East river before dawn yesterday, under cover of a furious squall that threatened their destruction with every burst of wind. Thirteen men aboard the vessels were arrested.

The vessels are fishermen and came here from Boston, the "commodore" of the fleet admitting, the federal officials said, that they had taken aboard their liquor cargoes from a seventy-five-foot rum-runner which was at anchor several miles off Sandy Hook. The boats are the sloops Peter Metzger and Stella and the gasoline boat C-936.

BRIDGE LEAP FATAL.

Man Jumps Off Brooklyn Span as Hundreds Look On.

NEW YORK, June 26.—A man believed to be Henry Montgomery of Brooklyn jumped to his death from Brooklyn bridge last evening, in the view of hundreds of pedestrians and surface car and elevated train passengers. He leaped from a passing surface car to the bridge roadway, stepped to the rail without looking back and jumped.
